BASEBALL SCHEDULE FOR 1917 ANNOUNCED

Program Includes Several New Colleges. More Extensive Trips Planned.

The baseball season of 1917 bids fair to be one of the most successful that Middlebury has even had. Although the team has lost four men by graduation last June, Robinson and Lamere, outfielders; Alyward, pitcher, and Mott, catcher, there seems to be enough new material available to fill their positions very satisfactorily this spring. The catching staff of the team has been greatly strengthened by Jake Deufel, a varsity player at Colgate last season and the one who held the highest batting and fielding average on that team for the season.

The freshmen showed up very well last fall by defeating the sophomores and there is every reason to hope and expect that some very good varsity material can be developed from their ranks.

The schedule for the season of 1917 has been announced by Manager William Edmunds and to date is as follows:

April 20—Connecticut Agricultural College at Middlebury.
26—Wesleyan at Middletown.
27—Springfield Y. M. C. A. College at Springfield.
28—Trinity at Hartford.
30—Pennsylvania State College at Middlebury.
May 4—Massachusetts Agricultural College at Middlebury.
5—Massachusetts Agricultural College at Middlebury.
9—Norwich at Northfield.
17—Colgate at Middlebury.
21—Norwich at Middlebury.
24—Colgate at Hamilton.
25—Hamilton at Clinton.
26—Syracuse at Syracuse.
30—Vermont at Burlington.
June 2—Williams at Williamstown.
15—Open
16—Alumni—Varsity.

The idea of having a game between the Varsity and the Alumni was tried several years ago but the contests as run then were very different from the one it is planned to stage next commencement week. These games in the past, it will be remembered, were usually scrub games, the alumni picking up a team from among their members at the last minute. The game this year, however, is a regularly scheduled one and the picking of the alumni team is going to be made a couple of weeks or so before the game comes off. All the alumni who played baseball in college and who desire to take part in the game, therefore, should send their names to Mr. A. B. King so that the lineup of the team may be determined as soon as possible. The co-operation of the alumni in this plan is vitally necessary to its success. The idea of a regular game like this was suggested by Robinson, and since hearing of it Jones and Vail have both written expressing their interest

Y. M. C. A. ACTIVITIES FOR NEW SEMESTER

Resume of Work Done, and Plans For The Future.

During the past semester, deputations have been sent regularly every Sunday, except during the Christmas holidays, to Case and Munger streets. The average attendance at each place has been about twelve. In November a pay social was held at Munger street, and the proceeds, amounting to about $5.00, became the nucleus for a missionary fund, now being raised by the people of the district, of $20.00, which will support a native missionary worker in China for one year. The fund is being added to gradually week by week.

This deputation work will be maintained during the rest of the year. Our new instructor in history, Dr. Lawrence, has taken part in the similar work carried on by the Dartmouth Y. M. C. A. on an extensive scale, and we anticipate that he can give us valuable suggestions and help in that line.

A Bible class led by Dean Wright has met every Sunday afternoon an hour before the vesper service, using as a basis of study Dr. Harry E. Fosdick's book "The Manhood of the Master." The class will be continued during the second semester. The book to be used is Dr. C. I. Schofield's "Rightly Dividing the Word of Truth," containing ten outline studies of the more important divisions of the Bible. In the absence of Dean Wright, the class will be led by various members of the association in turn.

Five men from the college attended the Seventh Annual Conference of the Older Boys of Vermont, held in Burlington, January 12-14, inclusive.

We hope to start a night class for foreigners, many of whom are ambitious to learn, and should by all means be encouraged in their desire for knowledge. Some valuable work was done along this line two or three years ago under the auspices of the Union, and there is every reason for renewing this practical form of social service. We also desire to co-operate with County Secretary Rand in his work among the town and High School boys.

During the basketball season the regular meetings will be shortened so that those wishing to attend the game may do so. When the season is over, however, it is planned to have informal talks by members of the faculty and of the association itself on topics of general interest. It is the aim of the administration to make every meeting as interesting and profitable as possible.

There are those among the students who have been members of the Y. M. C. A. in the past. To such men especially we appeal for support; but not to them alone. Every man in college, whether a member of the association or not should feel free to attend the weekly meetings and also the meeting of the Bible study group. We often hear it said that numbers do not count for

DARTMOUTH WINS IN GYM MEET 43-11

Strong New Hampshire Team Out-Classes Middlebury.

The Middlebury College gymnasium team met defeat at the hands of the strong Dartmouth team in McCullough gymnasium, Saturday evening, the third, by the score of 43 to 11. Owing to trouble on the railroad, the visitors were obliged to stay in Rutland for four hours and did not arrive in Middlebury until 9:30 in the evening. Dancing that had been planned for the latter part of the program was enjoyed by the assembled people during the hour and a half that they had to wait. Music was furnished by a stringed orchestra composed of college students. In addition to a fair sized audience of college students many townspeople and alumni were present.

The meet itself was very interesting and the work of the Middlebury team was quite creditable: but more enthusiasm should be shown in this branch of athletics. Middlebury's principal handicap seemed to be that there were not enough men to help win the needed points.

Although the Dartmouth team was much stronger, Middlebury showed up very well. In the horizontal bar Jenne took second place and Garrison third. Jenne was injured in a basketball game two weeks ago and it was feared that he would not be able to compete, but he did very creditable work. Everitt secured third place in the club swinging and Cheesman in the horse work. Garrison secured the remainder of the points for the home team, one second place and three thirds. For the visitors, Montgomery, Lyon, and MacDonough starred, each winning a first and a second place.

Following is the list of competitors with the number of points secured by each:

Horizontal Bar: Halloran (D) 20.4, Jenne (M) 15.6, Garrison (M) 14.2.
Parallel Bars: Lyon (D) 17.2, MacDonough (D) 16.3, Garrison (M) 13.6, McDermott (M) 12.4.
Club Swinging: MacDonough (D) 22.4, Montgomery (D) 20, Everitt (M) 15.
Horse: Garrison (D) 18, Bower (D) 16.1, Cheesman (M) 15.5.
Rings: Amsden (D) 30.6, Garrison (M) 25, Halloran (D) 24.9.
Tumbling: Montgomery (D) 18, Lyon (D) 15.7, Garrison (M) 3.2.

The first place in each event counted five, the second place three, and the third place one. Final score: Dartmouth 43, Middlebury 11.

Messrs. Esbjornson, Buck, and Roberts of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College were the judges.

Doctor Brainerd Honored.

At the session of the Vermont Botanical and Bird Club held in Burlington last week Dr. Ezra Brainerd was elected president for the coming year.

BASKETBALL AS A WINTER SPORT

Rivalry Unusually Keen—Cup Offered to Winning Class.

While the time has not yet come for varsity basketball at Middlebury, the series of inter-class games has always been popular with the student body. The present season is no exception, the games played so far have been hotly contested, and intense rivalry exists between the various teams.

As a further incentive, a cup has been been offered by the Horace Partridge Company to the class which wins the championship, the contest being open to the teams of both sexes. The points will be decided in the following manner: the points won by the men's team and women's team in each class will be added together, and the class whose combined teams win the greatest number of points will be awarded the cup at the end of the season.

The teams winning first place will receive four points, second place, three points, third place, two points, and fourth place, one point.

In the men's college, the senior team is showing good form and is out for the championship, being tied with the juniors for first place, each team having won two games and lost none. There is still a chance, however, for the other teams to displace the leaders.

The sophomores have been handicapped by the illness or injury of several of their men and the return of these men to the line up will greatly strengthen the team. There is plenty of good material in the freshman class which should develop into an exceptionally good team, but at present the men have not learned to work together. The sophomore and freshmen teams are tied for second place, each having lost two games.

The games scheduled for this evening are bound to be exciting as the one between the juniors and seniors will decide which one is to be temporarily in the lead, while that between the freshmen and sophomores will decide who is going to spend the next week in the cellar.

In the women's college the juniors are in the lead, having won all five of the games played so far. The freshmen and sophomores are tied for second place, each with two games won and three lost. The seniors are temporarily in last place with four games lost and one to the good. The women are manifesting great enthusiasm in the series.

Le Cercle Francais.

An open meeting of Le Cercle Francais was held in Pearsons Social Hall Friday evening, January 19. A short play, Le Congé, was given under the direction of Professor Robinson by the following cast: Mr. Coleman, Miss Richards, and Miss Richardson. After the play, Professor Robinson read from the Canadian dialect poems of Dr. Drummond. Light refreshments were served by members of the club.

An Open Forum.

Various methods have been tried in the past to bring the faculty and student body into a more harmonious relationship with each other and establish in the true sense of the word a college community. A great deal has already been accomplished, and an impartial consideration of the facts leads to the conclusion that the old time antagonism has largely died out. Yet it is true that there is at present no common ground where the two branches of the college can meet on an equality and discuss problems common to both. We believe that the real success of a college is measured to a very large extent by the degree of co-operation between the faculty and students. There has been and still is a general feeling that the point of view of each is misunderstood by the other with the result that a good deal of friction is caused which might easily be averted by a general clearing up of differences which are only on the surface.

The suggestion has been made by a member of the faculty that an open forum be established in which the students and faculty will meet on equal terms as individuals and there expose to the fire of free discussion all differences which arise in regard to the general life of the college or questions of administration which are of such a nature as to concern all parties. We hear suggestions constantly from many quarters, but few are ever taken very seriously. It may be that few deserve more than passing notice. We feel, however, that the suggestion which we have stated very briefly is one which should be carefully considered.

All fair-minded persons will listen respectfully to any statement which bears the semblance of rationality. We submit to those who sincerely desire to have a clear understanding firmly established between faculty and students on disputed issues that no better way has yet been suggested to accomplish this object. The barrier which exists between the two is the effective cause for injustice on both sides, and many changes for the better life and spirit of the college never become operative for the same reason. Surely, for the best interests of the institution and the individual as well these differences should be adjusted in a fair and logical manner. How better can this be done than by a general discussion on equal terms in which the views of all who have definite ideas on a given problem can be compared and the arguments on both sides receive just consideration? We frankly admit that old prejudices would have to give way to present facts, and past systems founded on one-sided policies would have to yield to a higher justice. Inconsistencies would tend to disappear and an atmosphere of mutual helpfulness would promote a healthy growth in ideals and material progress. No system, however, will work itself; it is necessary that it be instituted in the right spirit and promoted with enthusiasm and candor. Such a forum is an ideal place for a student to express his convictions on issues peculiar to a college community, and if these issues are vital to him, he should not hesitate to do so. Any argument to the effect that such a plan would not work because the majority of students would hesitate to take part in a discussion is weak and dodges the issue. If one is convinced that any part of our system is vitally wrong or might be improved if the facts were known, he should have the courage to state his arguments before such an assembly. College is intended to prepare for life in the world at large, but men who cannot stand before a meeting in college where they are known are not fitted to be leaders elsewhere.

It is understood that the question of an open forum will be brought up before the Union to be acted upon at an early meeting. We urge that each one consider the proposition carefully in the meantime and be prepared to take a definite stand for or against it.

Women's Civics Club.

Among the most important of the organizations of the women's college is the Civics Club. This society is for the purpose of making the women of the college familiar with the workings of government—in other words, to prepare them for citizenship. This club is to become ultimately a suffrage club. Equal suffrage is coming—coming soon, whether everybody wants it or not. When it does come it will be the duty and privilege of every woman to vote. The value, therefore, of such a club as the Women's Civics Club is very evident. Whether a woman believes in equal suffrage or not, she will sooner or later be called upon to vote. College women ought to be the women who shall vote most intelligently. College women are in the minority. They should then consider it an obligation to vote and to vote intelligently.

This club furnishes splendid opportunity to prepare for the future. Preparedness is now the slogan throughout the country. Let us make it our watchword in this. The meetings are not only instructive, but the subjects are presented interestingly. You will find them very profitable and entertaining. It is you who will be the loser if you fail to attend.

Middlebury Hall.

Our loyal Middlebury students are anxiously awaiting the realization of a "Middlebury Hall" at Doshisha University in Kyoto, Japan. One of our former students, Yoshimitsu Suzuki, a most loyal and staunch Middlebury man, is at the head of this university and we are trying to raise among the present Middlebury students and alumni two thousand dollars for our Middlebury Hall in Kyoto.

Each class has a treasurer from both the men's and women's college appointed to collect money from their class-mates. About one hundred dollars of subscribed money is still outstanding among the students. Our returns from alumni and students amount to almost six hundred dollars. Some of this has been paid out for printing and postage.

This is a start, but our fund is growing rather slowly. We all want a Middlebury Hall in Kyoto; we all want to prove our loyalty to a former Midd brother, and we all want our share in helping our foreign brothers to a higher education, such as we are privileged to enjoy.

Let us subscribe as much as possible, and after our subscriptions are given, let us pay promptly.

Debating.

What has become of Middlebury's debating prospects? During the early part of the year there seemed to be considerable enthusiasm shown, but of late this has been conspicuously lacking. While it is true that we have lost one of our loyal and valued supporters in the debating field among the faculty, an effort should be made to carry on the work as usual. Of all the contests that Middlebury engages in with other institutions, debating is the one that should not be dropped. If Middlebury college has lost her interest in the development of keen, wide-awake minds, and the encouraging of contests that undoubtedly do a great deal toward fitting a man for good citizenship, she has missed her goal by a wide margin. Those at the head of the debating association should take this into account.

Winter Sports.

In the past few years the Dartmouth Outing Club has been a distinct asset in booming Dartmouth interests. What the D. O. C. has done for Dartmouth, the Middlebury Outing Club can do for Middlebury. Already newspapers in Vermont have commented favorably on the formation of the new club at Middlebury.

By urging men to get out of the habit of hibernating during the winter months, by inducing them to leave their close, stuffy rooms for a couple of hours each afternoon, with a good walk and hike or cross country trip on skis and snowshoes, it has taught the men an appreciation of nature, a love for outdoor winter sports, and it has made for clearer brains and higher scholastic standing by developing vitality in the men.

The interest aroused in the Outing Club proves that the time was ripe for its organization. A pioneer trip by five members of the club on skis and snowshoes shortly after the Christmas recess, disclosed no tracks but their own. Two weeks later that same trip was taken by a lone ski runner, but a far different sight greeted him, for on every side were snowshoes and ski tracks leading in many directions. So the interest is growing. Present indications are that skiing is becoming the more popular sport, although snowshoeing has many devoted enthusiasts.

Chairs in the Stack Room.

The upper floor of stacks which has just been finished is without doubt an addition to the Library, and is an acquisition which will prove of much benefit to the students. But while this change is being accomplished for the good of the college, there is a need closely connected with this and that is the need for chairs of some kind in the stacks. It is very inconvenient when a number of reference books are desired to carry them all to the reading room, or else sit on the floor in the stack room. Some of the stacks have the stools for reaching the upper shelves, but even these are few and far between. Therefore this is offered as a suggestion for the practical benefit of the students, and also as a suggestion to them to "browse around among the books" as former students have done."

"Danger!"

Should not a placard be placed at the top of the new chapel walk? More than one person has fallen on the icy cement and been seriously injured. There are three remedies which have been suggested. Could not the walk be salted or sanded (thoroughly) as during the earlier part of the winter, or else could not the college secure two or three gross of sleds so that the students may slide down the hill? It would make a fine coasting track.

Editor's note :

The above communication should prove of especial interest to the entire college community. We hope that the discussion will be taken up enthusiastically and any suggestions of value promptly advanced. It has already been whispered about that the freshman commandment "Walks are made for you to walk on" will have to be rescinded, for as a matter of fact it seems quite necessary to slide ; at least, that is the general practice up to the present time. The contibutor seems to suggest that if we must slide, we should be permitted to do so in a more seemly and graceful manner.

Civics Club.

A closed meeting of the Civics Club was held on January 23, when a short business meeting preceded the regular program. Katherine Ball '17, resigned her position as president because of the point system, and Marina Holmes was unanimously elected to fill the place. Louisa Bullis was elected senior member on the council to fill the position vacated by Miss Holmes.

The program was a suffrage debate between Alice Harriman and Marina Holmes. The judges' decisions were two for the affirmative and one for the negative.

It was a splendid program and the girls deserve a vote of thanks for the time sp nt in making the necessary preparations.

and enthusiasm in the project. There is every reason to hope that this will be one of the feature events of the commencement week program.

The management has decided to try an innovation in the way of Junior week entertainment this year and has planned to stage a series of two games with the fast M. A. C. team and it is hoped that the plan will meet with the approval of all. The date of the home game with U. V. M. has not been definitely decided, but it is expected to be either the twelfth or the nineteenth of May. Leland Stanford is making a three weeks tour playing the leading colleges of the east, and the management hopes to be able to arrange a game to be played here on June 15. This will make a fine feature for commencement week if it is carried out. If it is impossible, however, to get a game with this team, a game will probably be arranged with Lehigh.

Wesleyan and Connecticut Aggies have not been on our schedule for several seasons while Penn State has never played us before.

Practice is to start about the last of February in the gymnasium and all freshmen who have played at all should come out and show what they have. The team is greatly handicapped in getting into form by the lack of a baseball cage, which is essential to getting a team in trim for early season games. Last year there was a foot of snow on the ground about two weeks before the opening contests. Conditions such as this are not the exception but are rather the rule, and the baseball team would certainly play much better early-season ball if a cage were added to our equipment.

COLLEGE NOTES

The semi-annual meeting of the trustees of Middlebury College was held on Friday afternoon, January 26, in the office of Dr. James M. Gifford in New York City. Reports were made by the President and Treasurer, and action was taken on various matters of importance to the College. President Thomas, Ex-President Brainerd, and Treasurer Fletcher were in attendance.

Professor J. A. Morgan, head of the Department of Economics, delivered an address at the second annual meeting of the Vermont State Conference of Charities and Corrections in Montpelier, January 24.

Professor Skillings was in Boston week before last attending a meeting of the New England Modern Language Association. The spring conference of the Vermont Modern Language Association will be held at Middlebury College during the third week in April.

Professor Foye has been conducting an examination of rocks which have been found in the vicinity of Middlebury by the college students. Some of these have been found to be of economic value. Professor Foye will make examinations of rocks brought to him by all who wish to learn whether such rocks are economically useful.

Manager Wheelock of the Junior Play Committee announces that the play to be produced Junior Week by the class will be "The Lady of Lyons" by Bulwer-Lytton. Professor Burrage will coach the play. Candidates for parts will be called out in a few days.

Manager Kenneth Gorham of the football team announces that in addition to the schedule for the fall of 1917 as announced in a previous issue of the Campus two new games have heen put on the list. Middlebury will oppose Clarkson Tech. on October 6, and Massachusetts Agricultural College on October 20. Both are home games.

Under the direction of Instructors Holmes and Murch men are preparing for wrestling and boxing matches to be held soon. Each class in college will have four representatives competing in each sport.

The next to the last of the series of girls' basketball games was played Friday afternoon, Jan. 19, the juniors winning over the freshman 12—3, and the sophomores over the seniors 10—9.

Miss Ruth Graham lectured Friday night, in Bristol, on "Feeding the Family".

John Reynolds, '17 spent a few days at his home in Rutland during the mid-year examinations.

Louise Reynolds, '18, and Helen Clift, '18 spent from Tuesday until Friday at their homes during the mid-year examinations.

Library Notes.

The third floor of stacks is now fully installed and a part of the books from the main stack have been moved upstairs. For some time the shelves have been so crowded that a new stack was needed to care for the yearly addition of 1800 or more volumes. Dr. M. Allen Starr of New York City was the donor of the new stacks.

The following books are a few of those that have been recently added:
Service, Rhymes of a Rolling Stone.
O'Brien (compiler), Best Short Stories of 1915.
Wolf, Readings in Social Problems.
Broadhouse, Mechanism of the Organ.
Choate, The Two Hague Conferences.
Jastraw, Character and Temperament.
Titchener, A Beginner's Psychology.
White. Mechanisms of Character Formation.
Kidd, Principles of Western Civilization.
Langfield and Allport, An Elementary Laboratory Course in Psychology.
Jusserand, With Americans of Past and Present Days.
Deel, The Old Wive's Tale (Ed. with notes and introduction by Prof. Frank W. Cady.
Curtis, The Dramatic Instinct in Education.
Carroll, The Community Survey in Relation to Church Efficiency.
Shaw, An Approach to Business Problems.
Johnson, Panama Canal and Commerce.
Kemmerer, Modern Currency Reforms.

Alumni Notes.

'04. Governor Graham has appointed Dr. P. E. Mellen a member of the board of dental examiners.

'16. Miss Wenona Shattuck spent a few days during the past week with friends on the hill.

"JOAKS!"

"Is that Langston over there?"

"I don't know; I don't know one freshman from another."

Ofttimes we are called 'brainless' when we feel that there is no real justification for so sweeping a statement. The following, however, which seems to be current on the Hill just now would, in our opinion, fully warrant the epithet.

"Why is a hen when it spins?"

"The higher the fewer!"

We would add for the benefit of those who doubt our own sanity in publishing such nonsense that we are always open to conviction and would feel deeply pained were we finally convinced that those who do use such expressions (?) are entirely devoid of gray matter. Will any one come to the rescue? for surely this is no work of Browning's.

The New Toboggan Slide.

Miss Ross recently received a sum of money to be expended on a toboggan slide and equipment for the women of the college. Three toboggans already have been purchased and more can be if they are needed. The new toboggan slide is located just back of Pearsons Hall. The long slope of the hill furnishes a splendid location for a very good slide. Although several accidents, due to the scarcity of snow, dampened the ardor of the toboggan enthusiasts at first, since the recent snow storm the toboggans have been in great demand. Although the toboggans are intended primarily for the women, the men are allowed to use them as guests of the women. The new slide is a great addition to the winter sports and with skating and snow-shoeing it affords good fun as well as enjoyable exercise.

Economics Department.

The Economics Department of the College has recently subscribed to Babson's College Service. The students have the opportunity to study the monthly desk sheets which are furnished investors and business men by the Babson's statistical organization. This service is a series of tables and graphs which show the trend of changes in fundamental business conditions in a weekly barometer letter and a mercantile bulletin. The service is for the purpose of making the economics courses deal largely with the concrete facts of business.
